Advantage: NYSIR

How do school districts and BOCES in New York handle property and liability risk?

Well, nearly 360 of them manage theirs through NYSIR, the largest insurer of public schools in the Empire State.

Owned by its member districts, the New York Schools Insurance Reciprocal is governed by a board of real, working school superintendents and business officials, who, with guidance from NYSIR insurance and risk management professionals, set policy and establish operational guidelines. K-12 schools and BOCES from Western New York to the North Country and Long Island are its only customers, and NYSIR's A.M. Best-recognized insurance programs are custom-designed to serve them... and only them.

Stabilizing coverage and rates

While it's a fully licensed not-for-profit insurer, the reciprocal treats its members like family, providing long-term cost containment, stable pricing, fast claims coverage, proactive services and a relentless focus on managing and reducing school-related risk. And less risk usually translates into fewer claims.

Because NYSIR recognizes and takes advantage of the value of insurance pooling, members' long-term costs generally are lower than those of school districts that are subject to volatility in the commercial insurance market.

For 30 years, the New York Schools Insurance Reciprocal has helped safeguard students, administrators, teachers, staff and the schools they rely on to deliver the highest quality education New York can provide. Visit nysir.org to find out more about the NYSIR Advantage.
